The incomprehensible came to pass in August as the Soviet tall ship, DRUZHBA (Friendship) docked at the Massabeing welcomed aboard it was a strange thrill. When for 50 years opposing systems have targeted each other as bitter adversaries, it is a warming experience to find that young men of 19 to 21, always under communism and always brought up to consider Americans as enemies, are not unfriendly at all. Just think, at this moment, there are enough intercontinental missiles in both the Soviet Union and the United States aimed at each other to destroy the other and perhaps the atmosphere of the world. Yet, on the personal level, hampered only by a language barrier (the Soviet boys speak and understand English) one on one, we can smile at each other, talk together in pleasure and experience an extraordinary trust. In all, I don't think there were over half a dozen young cadets to oversee the hundreds of visitors who were aboard the ship. The cadets were indistinguishable from any clean cut boy and could pass on any street in America without a glance if out of uniform. They were normal, friendly young men answering questions about the ship and their voyage. From Bourne they will go on to Boston and from there to Maine before making the crossing of the Atlantic to the Azores and France.

I think equal to the thrill of treading the deck of a great tall ship, built only 30 years ago, in Poland, was the experience of meeting the new generation of Soviet citizens. There is great hope for the world if these young men are typical of their generation who will soon be leaders in their own country. There is no going back. They have discovered that Americans don't have horns and tails either.

Like the landing on the moon, "One small step for man, one giant step for mankind".

Thanks to our Soviet hosts for a marvelous chance to see their ship and to meet with their future.

No Fish Kill in Mattapoisett

by VIRGINIA MORGAN

Mattapoisett's Natural Resources Officer/ Shellfish Constable Brian Nunes said, "I did an extensive search of the town ponds and rivers, including Tinkham Pond which is north of Route 195, and there is no evidence of any fish kill and I have no reports of any fish kill since the state sprayed malathion this week." He added that there was some spray drift because of the wind direction and he could detect a slight odor, but he understood there was no spraying within 400 feet of the coast. Usually, there is no spraying south of Route 195, he noted.

In connection with the fish kills reported in the Marion and Wareham rivers, Mr. Nunes said that at this time of year there is a glut of growth in the rivers and ponds causing a lack of oxygen which the fish need to survive. "Until there is a check on the cause of death in the fish we won't know just how they died."

Constable Nunes explained, "Plymouth County Mosquito Control Project superintendent advised me that the recent spray of malathion by the state Department of Public Health to combat the mosquito transmitting the disease Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEI) was not done within 400 yards of the Mattapoisett coastline. There is no reported fish kills."

Each year since 1957, Mattapoisett and 23 other Plymouth County towns, the City of Brockton and the Town of Cohasset in Norfolk County have been treated for the mosquito problem by the Plymouth County Mosquito Control Project. The Project is a special district created by the State Legislature in 1957 and is a regional response to a regional problem and provides a way of organizing specialized equipment, specially trained employees, and mosquito control professionals into a single agency with a broad geographical area of responsibility.

In a 1989 Mattapoisett town report, the Control Project reported the threat of the mosquito transmitted disease Eastern Equine Encephalitis was low. There was some concern, said the 1989 report, that this season's outbreak in the mid-Atlantic states might spread out. No horse or human cases occurred.

The report noted that in 1989 the Project set up a tracking complaint response time; that is the time between notice of a mosquito problem and response by one of our inspectors. The complaint response time in Mattapoisett was less than two days.

The Project carries on a variety of methods to combat mosquitoes, including insecticide application by sprayers mounted on trucks made in May and September; aerial application covering 225 acres in Mattapoisett and water management removing blockages and brush from ditches and streams.

The Control Project encourages citizens or municipal officials to call the office for information about mosquitoes, mosquito-born diseases, control practices, or any other matters of concern. The telephone number is 1-617-585-5450; the office is located in Kingston.

A Project spokesperson emphasized the recent spraying by the state has no connection with the work performed by the Plymouth County to combat mosquitoes.

6-Week Boating Course

MATTAPOISETT POWER SQUADRON

Mattapoisett Power Squadron will present the new six-week Boating Course of the United States Power Squadrons to the boating public in classes starting in mid-September.

Registration will take place at the Old Rochester Regional High School in Mattapoisett from 7:30 to 8 p.m. on Tuesday, September 11th. Classes will be held for six consecutive weeks beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, September 18th. All power boaters and sailors are welcomed and the course is open to anyone 12 years of age or older. Boat ownership is not required.

The lessons cover topics including boat handling, seamanship, safe boating practices, equipment requirements, nautical rules of the road, compass and chart familiarization, weather, aids to navigation, and a variety of other helpful subjects.

Recreational boating is on the increase and safe boating practices are becoming more and more essential. USPS boating courses are attended by thousands of boating enthusiasts all over the country and they find the course an enjoyable way of learning how to increase their boating pleasure in a safe and seaman-like way. USPS boating courses are taught by experienced sailors and power boaters who volunteer their time and efforts as a service to other boaters and prospective boaters.

Anyone who would like more information about the USPS Boating Course may contact Walter Sawyer at 758-2769, Dick Fearing at 748-1890, or John Balonis at 947-0202.

INTO FAMILY EYE CARE

Should a person own more than one pair of glasses?

Definitely they should. If a pair of glasses is broken, stolen or lost a person should have a back up pair to get them through until the original pair can be replaced.

Other instances when a person would need to own more than one pair of glasses would be if they participate in any active sport or work in certain occupations which require the use of safety glasses. The lenses used in these glasses are different from those used in regular glasses. They are constructed of a special material which will withstand impact from projectiles without breaking.

Mattapoisett Board of Appeals

DECISIONS ANNOUNCED

A special permit was granted by the Board of Appeals to Penny L. Denham of East Greenbush, New York relating to property she owns at 9 Hawthorne Street for the purpose of allowing the south portion of the lot to be considered a separate independent lot. The applicant owns the south portion of the lot on which is situated a two-story single family dwelling with attached garage which was built in 1956.

A construction business operates on the north portion of the lot. The applicant seeks a special permit to allow the south portion to exist independently of the north portion. No one appeared at the public hearing in opposition to the application.

The applicant purchased the south portion from her parents, John F. Denham and Thelma T. Denham, in 1986. The Denhams acquired this property in 1956. Other property abutting the north portion of the lot acquired by the Denhams is also used for business. The business lot does not meet current setback requirements. However, the business buildings were built prior to zoning and are legally non-conforming. The approval of this subdivision plan left only the south portion of the lot in need of a special permit. The special permit was granted to allow the south portion of the lot to be considered a separate independent lot.

The Board of Appeals reversed the decision of the building inspector denying enforcement action and directed the building inspector to undertake such enforcement action as he deems necessary and appropriate in light of the findings contained in this decision unless the owners of the proerty in question apply for a special permit within 60 days.

The appeal of a decision of the building inspector denying enforcement action requested by Harry O. Ainsworth and Sally A. Ainsworth of New Bedford filed with the town clerk on April 19, 1990, relating to property located at 8 Cathaway Lane in the Residence 30 district.

The property in question, owned by Richard E. Cole and Jean M. Sarris-Cole of 8 Cathaway Lane, abuts the property of the Ainsworths to the south. Mr. and Mrs. Ainsworth appeared in support of the appeal. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Cole nor anyone representing their interests appeared at the hearing on the appeal.

On November 30, 1987, the Coles applied for and were granted a building permit to construct an addition to an existing cottage on their property. The proposal presented to the building inspector was to construct the dwelling which was to be attached to the existing cottage by an enclosed lattice work walkway. It was the intention of the building inspector and the Coles that the existing cottage was to be demolished upon completion of the addition. On December 29, 1988 the building inspector issued a demolition permit for the cottage and on January 9, 1989 the cottage was demolished.

On April 5, 1990 Harry Ainsworth wrote to the building inspector stating his belief that the construction was undertaken without proper permits and requested the inspector enforce the applicable laws and regulations. By letter dated April 9, 1990, Andrew J. Bobola, the building inspector, denied the appellants' request for enforcement. The basis for the inspector's denial was that the property in question was a so-called "grandfathered" lot and therefore, the setback requirements of the zoning by-law did not apply.

The Ainsworths contend that after construction the addition created an additional non-conformity with the southerly setback approximately 20 to 25 feet, less than the required 30 feet. The Appeals Board determined that a special permit was required for construction of the addition as it was constructed creating an additional non-conformity with respect to the south side setback.

The board did determine that no special permit was required on the grounds that the existing cottage and addition were used as two separate dwellings on one lot. The two dwellings never were intended to be used as separate dwellings but solely due to the timing of events in the construction process in the 12-day period of the occupancy permit prior to demolition they were never used as separate units.

The application for a special permit for a variance and petition of Casimir deRham, Jr., Trustee of the Susan Parsons Plummer Trust by Susan L. Smith relating to property located at 4 Ned's Point Road were both denied for conversion of a studio to a guest house in the residence 30 district.

There are currently three structures on the lot: a two-story wood frame house built around 1840, a two-story wood frame garage built before 1958 and a one-story frame studio built in 1968. The lot contains 34,700 square feet with frontage of 195.48 feet on Ned's Point Road and 161.63 feet on Ship Street.

The applicant proposed to convert the 18 foot by 28 foot studio to a guest house. The applicants seek a variance to allow a guest house on a lot smaller than the required 40,000 square feet. The request for a special permit cannot be granted without first granting a change of use variance. The board was unable to make the findings required under the zoning by-law with regard to the variance. Both the petition for a variance and the application for a special permit were denied.

Paskamansett Bird Club

GREAT AUK EXPEDITION

A one-time Navy frogman is planning what may be the most challenging marine adventure in his remarkable career when he plunges through the North Atlantic next July.

Alone in a sea kayak he will push off from tiny Funk Island, a remote seabird eyrie some 50 miles off the northeast tip of the Island of Newfoundland. Questing southerly, the intrepid mariner will follow a ghost route some 1500 miles, hopeful to reach Buzzards Bay in early October 1991. The adventurer is Richard C. Wheeler of Charlestown, MA and Wareham, where he spends relaxing weekends.

The area public is cordially invited to hear Mr. Wheeler speak at Allen's Neck Friends Meeting Hall on September 12th when he will discuss details of his plan and purpose. Sponsor of the presentation is the Paskamansett Bird Club.

Mr. Wheeler's intent is to follow what is believed to be the historic fall migration route of the Great Auk, a flightless, goose-sized alcid, a Northern oceanic bird that in many ways resembles a penguin. And becaus of its docile, sluggish nature and succulent edibility, it was unstintingly harvested over the centuries by native Americans, colonial fishermen and various foreign voyagers, with the resultant extinction of the bird in 1844. Funk Island is believed to have been its principal breeding place; and although bones of the Great Auk have been discovered in middens at several points along the New England coast, it is not thought to have nested south of the upper Maine coast. Winter storms and the icing-up of Northern feeding grounds are believed to have impelle the ungainly birds to migrate to more temper ate waters and thus develop their migration Locally, the bird's bones have been found East Wareham (coincidentally near the eaker's residence); no evidence exists to dicate that these seabirds swam further uth than Buzzards Bay. The scribe aboard e CONCORD, Capt. Barholomew Gosnold's ip, did record what may be the last credi- e report of live Great Auks in local waters. May, 1602, just after discovering Cape Cod, ing at the time close to Gilbert's Point auset), "..we there killed Penguinze", the me generally used for the big black and ite swimming bird by Europeans.

Mr. Wheeler's Great Auk expedition will ve as its stated goals not only to advise e public of the tragedy of species ex- ction, but to raise their awareness level garding the ongoing environmental prob- ns currently existing in the North At- ntic. He will be monitoring the status surviving pelagic birds and threats to eir survival, such as oil spillage (both cidental and deliberate); gill nets (which trap diving birds); overfishing (with de- etion of food sources, both shell and fin h); and hunters (harvesting murres, eggs, wn, etc.). Present plans include the oduction of an environmental documentary m based on his expeditionary findings.

The adventurous researcher comes to the lecture hall with a rich background of creative educational programming spanning 25 years during which he has served as teacher or administrator (even coach) at all three scholastic levels - elementary, secondary, university - and five years in supervisory positions in the Navy and in the Peace Corps. His most recent responsbility has been as director of the U.S.S. Constitution Museum in Charlestown for six years.

The Friends Meeting Hall where he will address the bird club and guests on September 12th is located at 739 Horseneck Road, South Dartmouth. The session starts at 7:30 p.m. and interested persons are welcome to attend gratis. Light refreshment will be served following the presentation.

The Paskamansett Bird Club's fall season officially opens with a morning of birding on September 8th, starting at 8:30, at Demarest Lloyd State Park, South Dartmouth. The bird walk is open to the public. Information about either the field walk or the lecture is available by telephone at 636-2215.

Eisteddfod Festival

Portuguese, fado, Irish sean nos, Canadian fiddling, storytelling, cowboy songs from the American West, and blues from the American South are just a sampling of the music styles to be presented September 14-16 at the 19th Eisteddfod Traditional Arts Festival.

The annual event hosted by Southeastern Massachusetts University in North Dartmouth is one of the few festivals devoted almost exclusively to traditional folk music. The Eisteddfod (a Welsh word pronounced Eye-stedd-fod) also features free workshops, a children's area, contra dancing, and international foods.

New this year will be an expanded series of nine concerts, instead of the usual four. The university's 840-seat auditorium is closed for repairs, so the 200-seat Recital Hall in the Visual and Performing Arts Building will be used instead. Since seating is limited, concert goers are urged to purchase tickets early. Concert tickets are $5. for adults and $2. for children, except for the Family Concert at 1 p.m. Saturday, for which adult tickets are $3. and children's, $2.

YWCA Gadabouts

"The main thing is meeting together, the fellowship and the friendship", begins Edna Harrington, organizer of two highly successful senior citizen programs at the New Bedford YWCA.

"We have few business meetings and no officers, whoever wants to do the job, we've got 'em", she says. "We're kind of put together loosely."

For the past 17 years Mrs. Harrington has directed Senior Corner and more recently Gadabouts. Senior Corner meets at the YWCA Standish House every Thursday afternoon at 1, from September through June. Gadabouts, a planned series of trips and tours, offers a variety of monthly programs from March through December.

With an average of 40 women attending each meeting of the Senior Corner, regular activities are scheduled. Monthly games, piano and entertainment programs are popular. Often travel, art or history slide presentations are given, along with brown-bag or special luncheons. Rap sessions, bus tours (with free transportation provided), health and safety programs and holiday events are also planned.

Last year's programs centered on the theme of the study of the past with period clothing, old photographs and visits to homes highlighting the meetings. Preliminary planning for this season includes a luau, and a trip to Quincy Market Place.

The Gadabouts wander far and wide in search of entertaining and educational activities. The aim is not malls and restaurants, Mrs. Harrington says. "We would rather do something for enrichment."

Mrs. Harrington and her long-time friend and sister-in-law, Mary Hathaway, work together to provide a wide variety of opportunities for their members. Visits to museums are "highly successful", Mrs. Harrington indicates, giving as an example a very enjoyable day spent recently at the Shaker Museum, Art museums, the New Bedford Glass Museum, doll museums and others.

Their most recent trips were a whale wat which provided good viewing of the marine mammals as well as a relaxing day out on t water, and a trip to the North Shore Music Theatre to see the play, "Steel Magnolias".

They will again visit the North Shore Mus Theatre on September 12th to attend "Fiddl on the Roof" and to dine at the Colonial Hilton Club Room.

Two Christmas shopping excursions are planned as well. On October 9th the grou will visit the Christmas Tree Shops in Yarmouth and on November 20th they will visit a mall for more Christmas shopping.

Q. How can I tell if I have glaucoma?

A. It's best not to try to diagnose glaucoma yourself. By the time you notice symptoms, part of your vision may be gone forever.

Our eyes are filled with a fluid. When our body makes too much of this fluid or drainage is blocked, pressure builds inside the eye and can damage internal parts. This is called glaucoma.

By measuring your eye's pressure, examining your optic nerve during an internal eye health examination and performing other tests, your optometrist can diagnose glaucoma signs far earlier than you can. Everyone over 35 or anyone with a family history of glaucoma should have these tests annually as part of a thorough eye examination.

Glaucoma can usually be controlled or stopped with drug or surgical treatment but vision destroyed by it can never be regained. Early diagnosis and treatment are, therefore, important.

ack Watch to Perform

he world famous Black Watch will perform pipes and drums at Heritage Plantation Sandwich Monday, September 17th, at 0 p.m. on the Military Parade Field, ated on the museum grounds. The bands' pearance is a tribute to the Museum's ottish Soldier exhibition and will be the cluding performance of its current tour
the United States.

The Black Watch, the Senior Highland giment in the British Army, was created er the 1715 Rebellion in Scotland. An t forbidding Highlanders to carry arms
s not strictly observed and, in 1725, a itish General was sent to Scotland to ence it. Reviving the 17th-century "High-d Watch" idea, six Independent Companies Loyal Highlanders were raised and, in 39, with the threat of war against Spain, orge II ordered that the Independent mpanies should be incorporated into a giment of Foot under the Earl of Crawford.
is first Highland regiment, originally mbered the 43rd of Highland Regiment of ot, held its first parade near Aberfeldy Perthshire in May 1740.

THE SECRETARIAL NETWORK

There IS An Alternative To "Temporary Help":

Our Secretarial Service!

Why do you need an alternative? Because in today's sophisticated office, the solution to your work overload problems is often temporary equipment as much as temporary people.

As a professional Secretarial Service, we provide both the equipment and the trained staff to operate it. This allows your office to continue working at full capacity, while our office handles your overload word processing, transcription, or other special projects.

And we're always here and ready when you need us, for big jobs or small. We meet your deadlines and we guarantee our work.

Next time you're "swamped", try the alternative: Call Us!
